BRAD'S MILITARY MADNESS

HOLLYWOOD leading man Brad Pitt is mired in a major crisis that has insiders worried about his mental health and his marriage to Angelina Jolie, The National ENQUIRER can reveal!

The workaholic actor barely talks to any of his old pals and makes a habit of hitting the bottle by himself, said a source concerned that Brad is on the verge of a crack-up.

"He's extremely grumpy and withdrawn; all he wants to do these days is drink alone or work himself into the ground," said the source.

Brad showed up on a London set recently with two of his kids and looked much older than his 51 years — partially because he dyed his signature blond hair silver for his role in the movie "War Machine."

Brad plays General McMahon in the satirical Netflix film

The role is perfect for a man seeking to break out of mid-life doldrums: Brad plays a badass U.S. army general with a lethal reputation.

But his off-screen behavior lacks maturity, said the source.

"Sure, he takes care of the kids — but they're the only people he wants to be around these days," the insider told The ENQUIRER, not long after Brad brought his 7-year-old twins, Knox and Vivienne, to the set of his new movie.

"He's dumped his friends, rarely communicates with his family, and it's hard to remember the last time he took Ang out on a date," added the insider.

PALS CANNOT HELP but wonder if Brad's most recent project with Angelina, the film "By the Sea" — which she directed — has stirred up painful emotions for the heartthrob actor.

The movie follows a couple as they travel to France for a vacation in a last-ditch effort to save their fractured marriage.

Angelina, 40, has already admitted the project was potentially dangerous for the married actors.

"It's not the safest idea, but life is short," she said in an interview.

"Brad and I have our issues, but if the characters were even remotely close to our problems we couldn't have made the film."

"As artists, we wanted something that took us out of our comfort zones."

But Brad's troubling, antisocial behavior toward everyone but his kids isn't an act, said the source, bemoaning the fact that loner Brad won't accept help from those closest to him.

"Everyone's worried about Brad," the insider confided, "but he pushes people away."

WEIGHT, what? Sitcom sweetheart Valerie Bertinelli is looking fat and unhappy after packing on a whopping 35 pounds!

The "One Day at a Time" star, 55, famously dropped 49 pounds on the Jenny Craig program — slimming down from a pudgy 172 pounds to a trim 123 pounds.

"But now Valerie's gaining weight, and she's down in the dumps," an insider told The National ENQUIRER.

The actress' weight crept up when she began sampling recipes while writing her cookbook, "One Dish at a Time." Her weight woes mounted after she fractured her left foot in a bizarre home accident.

"Poor Valerie is back where she started," said the insider.

Meanwhile, Oprah Winfrey has stepped into the diet spotlight with her investment in Weight Watchers, sparking a feud with Hollywood's fitness gurus, said another source.

"Celebrities such as Valerie, Kirstie Alley and Suzanne Somers have to be gnashing their teeth over Oprah's success!" the source told The ENQUIRER. "They all had similar ambitions to corner the weight loss and exercise market, but they've been left eating Oprah's dust!"

The media mogul — infamous for her yo-yo dieting — bought into the company in mid-October after her best pal, Gayle King, announced she'd shed pounds on Weight Watchers.

Within days of Oprah's $43 million investment, gleeful financial markets nearly doubled the price of the company's stock, giving her a $72 million profit.

With Oprah in their corner, Weight Watchers will dominate the weight loss market, and overshadow the efforts of Kirstie and Suzanne, said the source.

Former "Three's Company" cutie Suzanne pushes her own exercise gizmo, ThighMaster, and weight loss plan.

Ex-"Cheers" star Kirstie has peddled a line of products called Organic Liaison, but in 2012 was sued by users who accused her of false and misleading advertising. She sold the company to Jenny Craig in 2014 and is now a Jenny Craig spokesperson.

"Oprah's now the queen of all diet plans!" declared the source. "The other celebs who have tried to achieve that status have to be absolutely livid!" NE

THINGS are hot on the set of "Chicago Fire" — TV stud Taylor Kinney enjoyed a lusty three-way romp with fiancée Lady Gaga and his bisexual co-star, Monica Raymund!

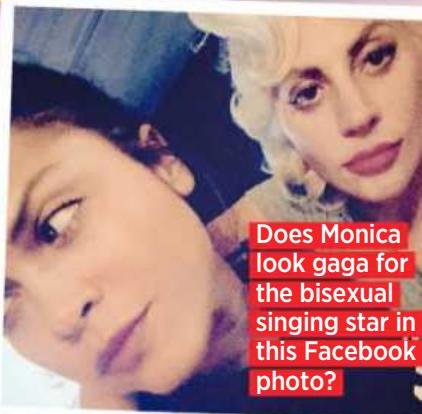

"Taylor loves Gaga, and he loves Monica," dished a source to The National ENQUIRER.

"The three of them have cuddled together for the cameras, and Gaga recently posted a photo of the three of them hugging!"

Another source told The ENQUIRER: "I heard the three of them have had a ménage à trois!"

Monica, 29, announced her bisexuality around the time she split from her husband of three years, Neil Patrick Stewart.

In a tweet in February 2014, she informed her followers that she was "so proud to be Bi."

When someone asked: "Did @monicaraymund just say she's 'so proud to be Bi'?" Monica replied: "yup. Hey ladies ;P"

The next day, Monica posted: "Nope I didn't just come out —you just late to the party. But I have drinks for all y'all. #BiAndProud #10Years Out&Proud Cheers, Family!"

Lady Gaga has been open about her bisexuality for years.

Gosselin bounces back with OLD FLAME Hailey!

DISASTROUS reality TV dad Jon Gosselin has reconnected with the feisty flame who once pressed charges against him!

The "Jon & Kate Plus 8" dad, 38, and ex-gal pal Hailey Glassman, 28, were spotted in New York recently, clinking drinks at a Manhattan café.

"Jon and Hailey were celebrating signing a contract, and they were in a very good mood," an insider told The National ENQUIRER.

Hailey now works as a publicist, but when she first connected with Jon, she was fresh out of college.

After a whirlwind romance, Jon announced their split on Halloween in 2009 — and then things got ugly.

Hailey filed a harassment complaint against Jon with the New York Police Department. Jon claimed Hailey trashed his apartment.

A year later, Hailey detailed Jon's "shortcomings" in an interview, claiming: "He's hung like a 9-year-old boy!"

"Jon has really hit rock bottom," a source told The ENQUIRER, noting Jon once earned $22,500 an episode on the TLC show, but now is just "waiting tables at a pub!"

Jon, who has been hit with a lawsuit by Kate alleging he stole information for a tell-all book, has been plotting a comeback, said the source.

"Jon is trying to turn things around with Hailey's help, and get a little good press in the process!" added the source. NE

BURT IS ‘A LIAR!’

Reynolds' sis-in-law hits back as ‘Smokey’ star bashes his brother in new tell-all

BURT Reynolds' upcoming memoir is total B.S.! That's the startling claim of the actor's sister-in-law — who sparked a nasty family feud by blasting the 79-year-old acting legend in a blockbuster interview with The National ENQUIRER.

“Burt’s a liar!” Maria Reynolds told The ENQUIRER in a world exclusive.

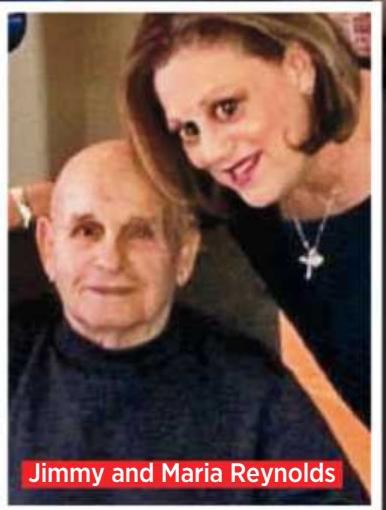

“If you want to write a book — fine! But don’t write a book that’s a bunch of lies. Lies don’t sell. Truth sells!”

Maria’s husband, Jimmy, had a difficult home life, so Burt’s parents formally adopted him and he grew up with the future star in Florida.

While Burt went on to hit it big in Hollywood, Jimmy coached high school football.

Over the years, their relationship turned tumultuous, leading to an estrangement between the once-close brothers.

Now the ailing “Smokey and the Bandit” star is blaming Maria for his issues with Jimmy, according to an advance copy of Burt’s book, “But Enough About Me,” obtained by The ENQUIRER.

“It isn’t his fault. The gal he married wasn’t crazy about me,” Burt penned.

“She thought I should have been more attentive to Jim and helped him more financially, but I’d already helped him a lot, and there came a time when I thought he should strike out on his own.”

Burt also criticized his brother for not accomplishing more in life!

“He had every break anybody could ask for, and I was disappointed with him in that sense. I thought he could have done better if he’d tried

But Maria disagreed with her famous brother-in-law’s harsh words.

“What he’s saying about us is not true!” she told The ENQUIRER.

“Burt’s never called this house! And when Jimmy’s reached out, Burt wouldn’t pick up the phone!

“I don’t care if you don’t want to talk to us — but if you don’t, don’t blame other people!”

Even more disturbing, Maria claimed that Burt’s book comes at a tragic time in his brother’s life.

“Jimmy is sick, very sick,” she revealed.

“What Burt did was wrong, wrong, wrong!”

From their home in Florida, Jimmy told The ENQUIRER: “I don’t know where he gets these stories. I love him. He’s a very giving person. He’s actually given more away than he’s kept for himself. This is sad to see.”

Added Maria: “His whole book is bull crap. It’s a bunch of lies. It should be (sold) in fiction.”

LOVABLE Mickey Rooney was poisoned, his two daughters have sensationaly claimed — and they have the evidence to catch his killer!

As the Hollywood legend lay in his coffin, Kelly Rooney clipped several strands of hair from her father’s corpse, believing they would be the key forensic proof that will confirm he was poisoned, The National ENQUIRER has exclusively learned.

The daughters and other family members were not immediately notified of Mickey’s April 6, 2014, death at the age of 93 — and now say they want his body exhumed.

No autopsy or toxicology tests were performed either, rousing suspicions of foul play, accusations of elder abuse and a nasty battle over a surprise new will.

“Their father was immediately taken and embalmed as if they were hiding something!” said Mickey’s biographer, William J. Birnes.

“Why was there no autopsy? Why was this done so quickly, and the way they learned about their father’s death was through the news media?”

The bitter family feud set his biological kids and estranged wife, Jan Chamberlin, against her son, Mark, who, along with his wife, Charlene, lived with Mickey during his final days.

Sisters Kerry and Kelly became suspicious after they learned Mickey, who was suffering from dementia, signed a new will on March 11, 2014, just weeks before his death. The shocking change left absolutely nothing for his eight biological children or for Jan, his wife of 35 years.

The sole heirs were Mark and Charlene, who had both adopted the Rooney surname.

"Why did he change his will weeks before he dies? It's strange," questioned William.

KELLY TOLD The ENQUIRER that for years prior to his death, she, Kerry, 54, and other biological siblings were kept from their famous movie star dad despite many desperate attempts to check on him!

"Most of my dad's kids were isolated from him," Kelly told The ENQUIRER. "It was a gradual isolation and, as his first daughter, I was very close to him growing up."

Burning anger over the estrangement boiled over on the day Mickey died.

The family discovered that when EMTs arrived they were unable to revive Mickey — even though he was still struggling to breathe, said William.

Suspicion deepened when they learned a doctor had signed off on the death certificate and Mickey was buried at the Hollywood Forever cemetery without an autopsy.

"They wanted the body exhumed," said William, "but they did not have the money to engage in the legal process."

Ed Winter, assistant chief medical examiner for Los Angeles County, told The ENQUIRER no autopsy was done because the doctor's signature ended his jurisdiction.

Ed also revealed he conducted an examination of Mickey's corpse after reports of possible abuse.

"It turned out not to be true," Ed told The ENQUIRER.

But he admitted there were no toxicology tests, which could have detected if foreign chemicals were in his bloodstream at the time of his death!

That's when Kelly took dramatic action.

"What she did was, when Mickey was lying in state in his coffin, she leaned over and cut off a bunch of Mickey's hair, because she figured that he may have been poisoned," said William, who co-authored the recently released "The Life and Times of Mickey Rooney."

"She felt something was amiss." Mickey's daughter cannot afford to run forensic tests on the hair samples, but for now, they have the "evidence" hoping something could turn up in Mickey's hair follicles!" NE

Drug-crazed star blames reality TV

BEFORE attempting to end his life with the same lethal overdose that killed River Phoenix, tragic Lamar Odom wrote a secret suicide note blaming the Kardashians for his downward spiral.

In a bombshell world exclusive, The National ENQUIRER has obtained the confusing but heart-breaking letter, penned in the hours before 911 was called to save his life.

The troubled NBA star wrote out what he thought would be his last words in a private bedroom at a legal Nevada brothel, where he almost died on Oct. 13.

The rambling suicide note reads:
"... they doing as in Mid-town in Broad day.

"To a popular face light skinned, un popular by demand, dark skinned, olive toned, Mexican or the other of ***** and everybody put em up!"

Relationship expert to the stars Dr. Gilda Carle said the term "unpopular by demand" refers to his marriage to Khloé Kardashian, which had imploded — and how the Kardashians were still destroying him!

Dr. Carle told The ENQUIRER: "Khloé dumped him and established a new relationship with James Harden, another NBA star. But the Kardashians were still talking about him on their show.

"'Unpopular by demand' is how he felt, and in his confused state it led him to try and take his life!"

The source additionally told The ENQUIRER the suicide note is a direct reference to the world's most famous reality show family and, in particular, to an episode of "Keeping Up With the Kardashians" that aired on Oct. 11 — just two days before Lamar was found at death's door!

The insider claimed: "Lamar was always full of life, but the episode really destroyed him. He felt used and exploited by the Kardashians. He realized the deep hurt they can cause knows absolutely no bounds!"

"He'd been around them since 2009, and had previously ignored warnings from his own family members, including dad Joe, that ►

KHLOÉ'S VOW TO KEEP ODOM ALIVE!

IN AN amazing and courageous life-changing decision, Khloé Kardashian is ready to give Lamar Odom a kidney after squashing their divorce, a close source confided in The National ENQUIRER.

"Lamar's recovery has been miraculous, but he's not out of the woods yet," said the informant. "He may now require a kidney transplant and Khloé has said if that's the case, she'll be a donor if doctors green-light it after testing her!" Lamar, meanwhile, is fighting for his life. Before coming out of his coma, he was on dialysis because his kidneys were failing.

The source told The ENQUIRER: "Khloé is ready to make major sacrifices for Lamar. She took back their divorce and now she's prepared to give him, literally, a piece of her body.

"She doesn't want to lose Lamar. She's not exactly sure what the future holds for the two of them, but she's willing to do all she can — and if that means giving him one of her kidneys, then so be it."

they cared nothing for anyone but themselves. When that show aired, he plunged into the depths of despair!"

The source also told The ENQUIRER Lamar, 35, then wrote the suicide note and tried to kill himself. Two hookers found him unconscious at Dennis Hof's Love Ranch after he overdosed on a heroin-and-cocaine "speedball."

Dennis told The ENQUIRER: "The more I hear about Lamar's medical situation, the more I'm starting to believe that it could've been a suicide attempt."

Paramedics rushed him to a Las Vegas hospital where he was in critical condition.

After four days in a coma, he was airlifted to Cedars-Sinai Medical Center in L.A.

While he emerged from his unconscious state, sources said he has severe brain and kidney damage and it's unclear at this time the extent of the loss of his motor skills following a stroke he suffered during his ordeal.

REALITY SHOW DIVA

Khloé — who filed to end their four-year marriage in 2013 — had been at his bedside for much of the time Lamar has been hospitalized.

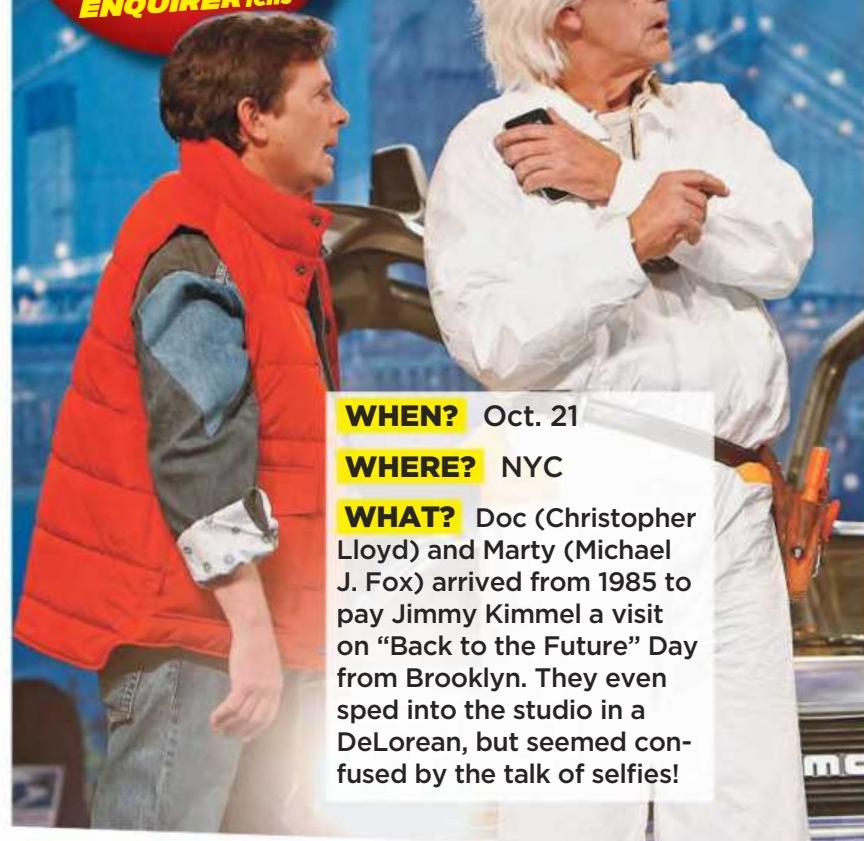

In a new twist, her lawyer stopped the divorce proceedings on Oct. 21 when he asked a Los Angeles judge to dismiss the filing.

"The Kardashians are now trying to rescue him to look good in the public eye," the source added. "But the fact is, Lamar blamed them in his suicide note and now they're once again exploiting him for ratings — it's simply pathetic!" NE

KANIKA TERROR!

Police hunt assassin who made secret agent's life HELL

IT IS a murder mystery that could have been a best-selling spy novel! Seven years ago, Kanika Powell — a homeland security worker with high clearance — was stalked by mysterious men and eventually cut down in a hail of bullets by ... someone.

The case remains unsolved — as her co-workers whisper the hit may have had national security implications!

Kanika, 28, worked as a security specialist at Johns Hopkins University Applied Physics Laboratory in Laurel, Md. — ground zero for top-secret military projects.

She had served in the Army in Korea before joining the operation and was secretive about her work.

"I would ask her where she was going," said Kanika's mother, Judy Forrest, "and she would say, 'Mom, you know I can't tell you that.'"

Then, one August evening in 2008, Kanika heard a knock on her apartment door.

A man claiming to be an FBI agent "looking for Kanika Powell as part of an investigation" held up a badge to the peephole, but when she asked to see a photo ID, he disappeared.

She called the FBI, who told

Police are offering a $25,000 reward for information leading to the capture of Kanika's killer her the visitor didn't work for them. She also described the intruder to the police.

Days later, a deliveryman showed up twice claiming to have a package. Kanika refused to open the door and no package was left. After the second incident, she called her mother who said Kanika told her she would go out and run errands.

When she returned, an assailant was waiting for her inside the apartment building. They drew a gun and opened fire — killing Kanika.

Her mother refuses to believe it was a random act of violence.

Investigators are baffled, having failed to identify a plausible motive or suspects — but her co-workers won't dismiss the idea that her job may have been a factor.

Burglar nabbed by YOUNG GIRL'S SKETCH!

A CONNECTICUT schoolgirl's sharp eye and artistic talent helped collar a burglar who'd broken into nearly a dozen houses, including the real-life Nancy Drew's own!

The unlikely story began when cops knocked on the door of 11-year-old Rebecca DePietro's house in suburban Stratford.

Local detectives were investigating a string of burglaries, including one at a home across the street, The National ENQUIRER has learned.

"They asked me if I had seen anyone strange or who didn't belong, and I said, 'I can draw him for you!'" Rebecca said.

"I just knelt down here in the living room next to my bench and grabbed a pencil and took two or three minutes to draw the picture. Afterward, I figured (the detective) would just throw it away."

But that's not what happened.

Instead, the detective faxed

Rebecca's sketch to other nearby departments. The drawing led cops straight to Pedro Bruno, who was already in custody in nearby Fairfield for trying to rob an 82-year-old man with a toy gun after breaking into his home.

Bruno, a 32-year-old from Bridgeport, Conn., had refused to talk — until cops showed him Rebecca's sketch, and told him they had a witness to his crimes.

Then, the creep sang like a canary — proving a little girl's pencil is mightier than a cop's baton!

Though cops didn't find anything from Rebecca's house, "they went into his apartment and recovered many stolen items," said her proud dad, Paul. NE

Kilmer "talks" to his illness, a source said

DYING VAL IN DENIAL

FRANK "Top Gun" star Val Kilmer is so shockingly ill that medical experts are arranging end-of-life care for the actor, The National ENQUIRER can exclusively reveal!

But despite his desperate condition from a deadly throat tumor, Val has been trying to "talk" and "meditate" his crippling condition away, sources said.

The once-macho actor, 55, was admitted to UCLA Medical Center at the end of October under the name "Oscar Davis," according to an eyewitness.

"Kilmer could barely speak," the insider said, noting Val was hooked up to a tracheostomy tube and other machines "as he was wheeled through the ICU on a gurney."

"The medics were discussing 'comfort care.'"

The ENQUIRER previously reported that doctors found the tumor after Val was rushed to the hospital on Jan. 26.

Val's mother, Gladys Leach, confirmed he had a throat tumor and a tracheotomy.

The devout Christian Scientist has refused traditional medical treatments and is relying on the healing power of prayer, divulged insiders.

"Val 'talks' to the illness, and meditates on it," said a source.

"He's been putting up a great battle," a friend revealed, adding, "He's wasting away."

Yet the actor continues to downplay his condition, telling Facebook fans: "There's a rumor I'm unwell again and in the hospital, which is totally untrue. I was in to verify I have no tumor or infection of any kind."

But a pal said Val is in deep denial: "Sadly, I don't think anything will save him now!"

'OPRAH, OPRAH, I MISS YOU!

TALK show titan Oprah Winfrey and her "secret son" — the boy she once dreamed of adopting — had a heart-melting teary-eyed meeting after nearly 20 years apart.

The encounter between Oprah, 61, and Calvin Mitchell, now 35, took place as the chat legend walked out the stage door at Manhattan's Ed Sullivan Theater after taping "The Late Show with Stephen Colbert" — and The National ENQUIRER exclusively captured the dramatic moment.

"Oprah, Oprah, it's me, Calvin. I miss you!" the truck-driving father of two screamed out as the superstar — worth an estimated $3 billion — saw him outside the theater.

A shocked Oprah recognized Calvin, who considered her his second mother while an adolescent in Chicago. And Oprah even gently placed her hand over his heart!

THE ENQUIRER arranged for the heart-stirring meeting after learning about Calvin and how — as a tender 12-year-old — he met Oprah in 1993 and formed a loving five-year, mother-son bond. At one point, Oprah even asked Calvin's mom if she could

Oprah caressed Calvin's chest as he approached her at a recent TV taping adopt the precocious kid.

But that all abruptly ended when, at 17, Calvin dropped out of the posh Mississippi private school Oprah had sent him to — and she has since refused to deal with him!

Calvin suffered from severe depression and, after the separation, once thought about committing suicide.

But the cheerful reunion took a dark turn because Oprah was upset that Calvin had reached out to The ENQUIRER in an attempt to communicate with her.

"I'm sorry, I'm sorry, but it was the only way to get in touch with you," a distraught Calvin pleaded.

He even begged Oprah to forgive him and asked to sit down and quietly talk — but the star wasn't having any of it.

"Honey, I'm on my way to the United Nations right now so I can't talk to you," she said.

"I didn't mean to hurt you,"

Calvin replied.

Placing her hand gently on his chest, Oprah said: "Calvin, you just take care of yourself."

As she got into a waiting SUV, a dejected Calvin leaned against the metal barricades that divided him from the woman he had once spent many hours with.

Oprah sadly stared at Calvin from the rear seat of the SUV and repeated herself: "Take care of yourself, Calvin!"

Afterward, he broke down in tears realizing the happy reunion he was expecting did not turn out the way he wanted.

"I'm hurt, I'm really hurt," Calvin said as tears ran down his cheeks.

As an adolescent, Calvin built a strong bond with Oprah

"She couldn't take the time to talk to me — just to let me talk to her without all these people around. I even tried to give her a hug and she backed away from me."

Undeterred, Calvin still managed to give Oprah his phone number and told The ENQUIRER he hopes she will call him.

"She should've just left me where I was (as a kid). Then I wouldn't be going through this pain right now," he said. NE

The dark secrets that will destroy
GEORGE & AMAL

WHAT HE'S HIDING!

Scandalous photos and a twisted double life! Details of Clooney's lurid past are being laid bare to his wife of 13 months — and the world — in a shocking ENQUIRER exposé

These are the kisses of death for George and Amal's "sham marriage"

NA blockbuster world exclusive, The National ENQUIRER has obtained secret spy photos of George Clooney kissing another man that could seal the deal on his $220 million divorce.

The never-before-seen images give a shocking glimpse into the twisted double life of one of Hollywood's leading men — a risqué past he kept hidden from his wife of 13 months, glamorous human rights lawyer and activist Amal.

The sordid photos show George, then 34, smooching actor Noah Wyle — his costar on TV's "ER" — at a movie premiere in 1995.

Noah was dating "ER" costar Sherry Stringfield and fooling around with George.

But the emergence of the embarrassing same-sex snaps will add fuel to the raging inferno of innuendo about the movie star's sexuality!

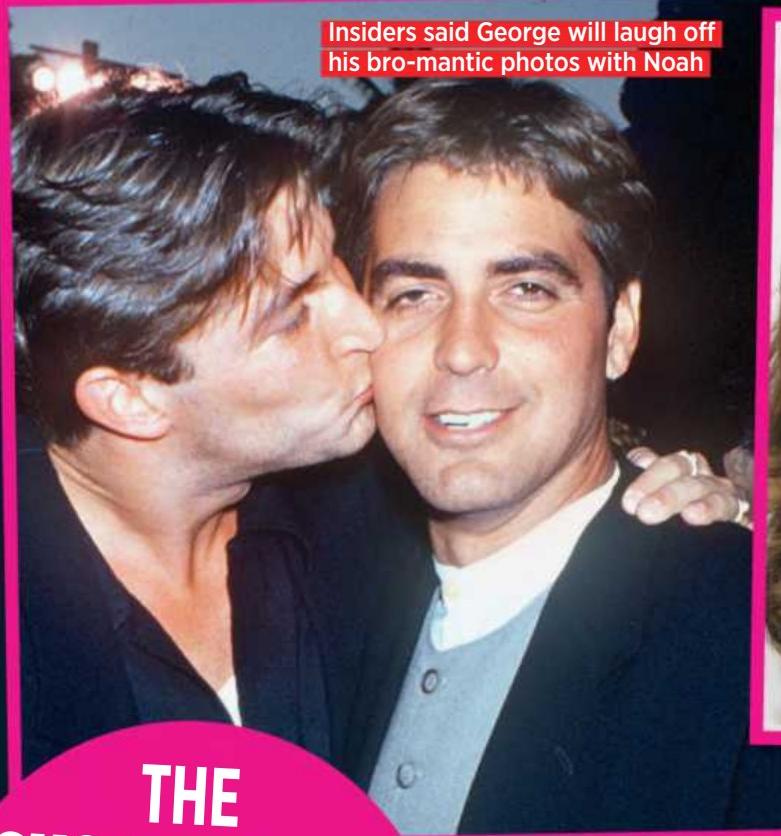

A source told The ENQUIRER: "Regardless of their purported innocence, these pictures are sure to reignite all the vicious gay rumors that have haunted George since his bachelor days — dirty rumors that followed him right down the aisle when he finally got married last year!"

Added the Hollywood informant: "There's no doubt George never told Amal about these pics of him kissing a dude!"

"While I'm sure prankster George will now laugh them off as a joke, the photos are exactly the sort of thing Amal's friends suspect — that George is hiding a lot more about his personal life!"

"There's no doubt her pals will tell her now's the time to get out of the marriage!"

In The ENQUIRER's Oct.

Insiders said George will laugh off his bro-mantic photos with Noah

Amal won't be amused by the shocking gay antics

THE SHOCKING SPY PHOTOS GEORGE DIDN'T WANT ANYONE TO SEE

12 issue, sources reported the 54-year-old Hollywood heartthrob had already dumped Amal, 37, on the eve of their one-year wedding anniversary.

Fed-up George had gone back to hanging out with his drinking buddies, said sources — and the power couple's "businesslike arrangement" had crumbled behind-the-scenes.

Additionally, "the Amal experiment" was backfiring badly on George, who was "looking for a way out" since he married her in a star-studded ceremony in Venice, Italy, on Sept. 27, 2014, the source added.

Their union has been anything but a honeymoon.

As The ENQUIRER previously exposed, the marriage is nothing more than a "sham" — drawn up in a secret "contract."

What's more, George's rumored "double life" had driven a deep divide between the couple after revelations surfaced of the Oscar-winning actor's indifference to sex with women.

One hottie, model Kim Weisant, who claimed to be the star's ex-lover, said he preferred booze to intimacy!

Sparking more speculation, George's boozy get-togethers with pals like Brad Pitt and Cindy Crawford's husband, Rande Gerber, remain the talk of Tinseltown.

George's "bro-mance" with Rande — his partner in the Casamigos Tequila business — has led to problems in his marriage, other insiders have revealed.

The "Gravity" hunk constantly shoehorns Rande into celebrations with Amal, including their first Christmas together as man and wife!

Said the source: "Amal's sick of having three people in the marriage!"

While George's "ER" pal Noah is now married for the second time, the continued presence of Waldo Sanchez, a handsome hairdresser who often accompanies George on his worldwide travels, has also hurt the couple.

The two men met in the mid-1990s when George was just becoming famous as Dr. Doug Ross on the NBC hit "ER."

Now, his provocative photos from that long-ago time could serve as the death knell for his short marriage to Amal.

Claimed the source: "Nobody wants to see their husband making out with another guy. For Amal, it begs the question, 'What else is George hiding?'" NE marriage!

LARK DUMPS 'BAD NEWS' HUSBAND!

LARK Voorhies wasn't "Saved by the Bell" this time: She was saved by her mom — who helped the actress get out of a nasty marriage!

Lark's mom, Patricia Holloway, filed a restraining order against son-in-law Jimmy Green in June, a source told The National ENQUIRER — and it helped convince 41-year-old Lark to file for divorce!

"Ever since Lark married Jimmy in a quickie Las Vegas wedding, Pat knew he was bad news," said the source.

Lark, who played fashion-obsessed Lisa Turtle on "Saved by the Bell" from 1989 to 1993, married 32-year-old music engineer Jimmy in April.

In the restraining order, obtained by The ENQUIRER, Patricia accused Bloods

"After the issues her mom went through with Jimmy, Lark finally woke up and realized her six-month marriage was a mistake and dumped him," said the source.

Urban's 5-star WITH MYS

COUNTRY crooner Keith Urban is at it yet again — caught canoodling with a sultry blonde behind Nicole Kidman's back!

The legendary bad boy was seen sneaking into a luxury California hotel with a stunning blonde, while wife Nicole was nowhere to be seen.

"He looked like he was on cloud nine as he escorted the tall beauty into his hotel," an eyewitness told The National ENQUIRER.

"Keith entered with the woman just before 8 p.m. on Saturday night."

The singer was in San Francisco filming top-secret "American Idol" auditions. After working nine hours in the judge's chair, he was whisked away to the Four Seasons Hotel in a limo.

These world exclusive ENQUIRER photos from Oct. 10 show the 48-year-old singer — and the mystery blonde — entering the tony hotel where Keith had a one-bedroom suite, complete with

A WILD HISTORY OF FLIRT FESTS

THIS isn't the first scandal to plague Keith's marriage to Australian stunner Nicole.

Just six months after tying the knot in June 2006, Keith's marriage was rocked when lingerie model Amanda Wyatt claimed she'd been sleeping with the "Sweet Thing" singer throughout his and Nicole's engagement!

Amanda said she slept with Keith while he was with Nicole

Although a rep for Keith denied the claims, the eyewitness said: "It's bound to upset Nicole; these things seem to be becoming more and more frequent the longer Keith spends on the road away from his family!"

If that wasn't enough of a slap in the face, she revealed he refused to wear condoms during their trysts!

Keith's publicist called Amanda's story a fabrication, but the singer later said: "I deeply regret the hurt this has caused Nicole!"

In October 2006, The ENQUIRER reported that a porn star told pals she had a torrid sex romp with the country star at an "unofficial" bache-

"This woman had a sparkle in her eye when Keith led her through the valet entrance.

"There was definitely chemistry between them."

AS THE ENQUIRER reported, Nicole, 48, was left reeling when Keith stayed in Nashville after promising to be at her side for her play in London.

The actress was also infuriated at reports of his opening act, Kelsea Ballerini, sneaking onto his bus!

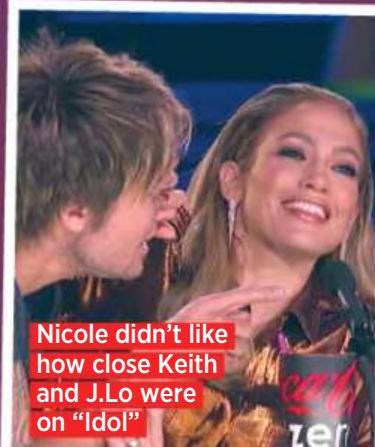

Photos emerged of 22-year-old Kelsea smiling after spending 20 minutes with Keith in his trailer following a July 29 show in California.

"Looks like Keith will be facing a different kind of music when he finally goes to London to reunite with his wife," said the source.

lor party three months before his wedding to Nicole!

More recently, The ENQUIRER reported the couple's marriage hit the skids last year due to his "flirt fest" with fellow "American Idol" judge Jennifer Lopez, prompting Nicole to move to L.A. to keep tabs on him.

Then, in November, we reported 22-year-old Sierra Black, the winner of a "Sing With Keith Urban" contest,

Nicole didn't like how close Keith and J.Lo were on "Idol" joined the superstar at a Las Vegas concert on Oct. 3 and performed with him.

"Keith couldn't keep his eyes off her," an eyewitness said. "It's without a doubt Nicole's worst nightmare."

Shockingly, Keith claimed never to have met Sierra when he introduced the rising star to the audience. But a photo exclusively obtained by The ENQUIRER showed the two had met a year earlier! NE

JACKO DOCTOR'S SINISTER SECRETS!

THE controversial doctor accused of turning pop superstar Michael Jackson into a drug addict — and fathering two of the singer's children — has taken his secrets to the grave!

Dr. Arnold Klein, 70, a shadowy figure throughout much of Michael's adult life, died on Oct. 22 in Palm Springs, Calif., after battling multiple sclerosis.

The notorious physician had been close to Michael since the 1980s, when he treated the singer for the skin condition vitiligo and other ailments.

But he was first caught in the glare of fame's spotlight when questions arose concerning who exactly fathered Michael's children Prince, 18, and Paris, 17.

Their mother, Debbie Rowe, was Klein's medical assistant. Though Michael claimed his children were conceived through normal intercourse, Debbie admitted both were conceived through artificial insemination.

As the kids grew older, "their dark hair and facial features bore a resemblance to Klein's," an insider said.

Klein coyly deflected paternity questions, saying: "To the best of my knowledge, I'm not their father."

But in 2013, he compared the similarities of a picture of Prince to his own photo on an old driver's license!

After the "Thriller" star died of an overdose on June 25, 2009, Klein came under heavy fire for providing Jackson with drugs. Jackson's former cosmetic surgeon, Dr. Steve Hoefflin, accused Klein of getting the singer hooked on the painkiller Demerol.

"You contributed to the death of Michael Jackson," he told Klein in a letter written after the singer's death.

At the trial of Dr. Conrad Murray — who was convicted for giving Jackson propofol on the night of his death — attorneys produced medical records showing Klein gave Jackson 900 milligrams of Demerol over three days in 2009. But Klein escaped any charges.

What's more, in 2010 Klein claimed Jackson was gay — and that his office manager had had an affair with him!

But the doctor changed his tune and said he made up the story — leaving Jackson fans with yet another unsolved mystery. NE

LUSTY LAUER'S AT IT AGAIN!

Matt's marriage may be on thin ice after he got cozy with a beauty at a recent Rangers hockey game

HORNDOG Matt Lauer has been up to his old tricks — flirting up a storm with a hottie while his long-suffering wife, Annette Roque, was nowhere in sight!

The National ENQUIRER obtained the shocking photos of the "Today" show star, who was attending a New York Rangers hockey game with his 14-year-old son, Jack, on Oct. 22.

"Matt appeared more interested with the beauty he was chatting up than the action on the ice!" an eyewitness revealed to The ENQUIRER.

"His wandering eye was in fine form. And while flirting with this woman, he even made a point to pull her in close so he could whisper sweet nothings in her ear. The guy is such a cad — it's disgusting."

The ENQUIRER has reported that while Matt, 57, has crafted a pristine image as a doting father and husband during his glittering 20-year career at NBC, it's nothing more than an illusion.

His marriage to Annette crumbled less than three years after their 1998 wedding. In 2006, she even filed divorce papers — only to take him back!

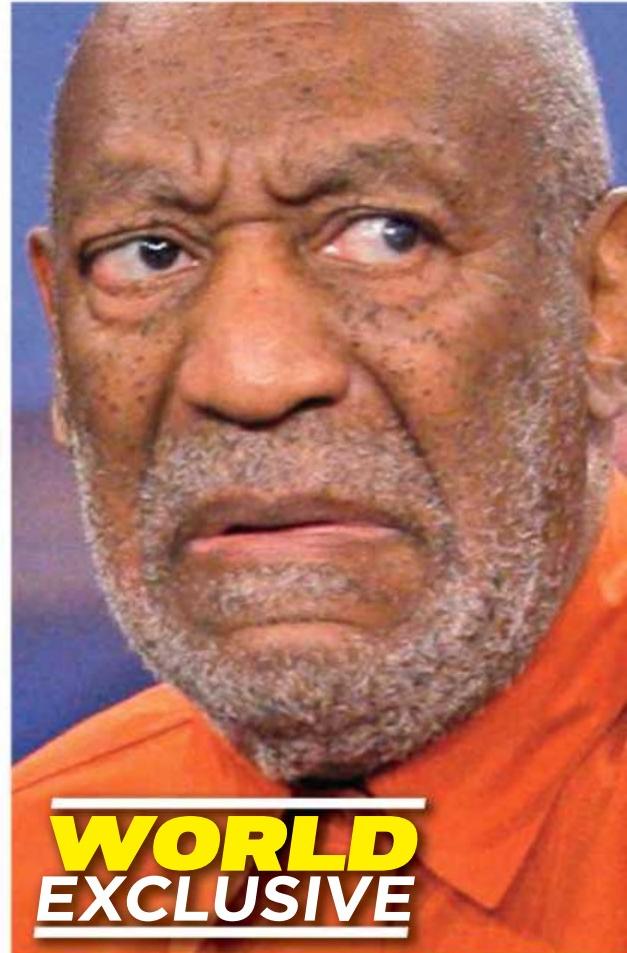

While Matt denies there's any trouble in their marriage, he let it slip last summer during an interview that the couple live apart and only see each other on weekends.

"He's humiliated his wife so badly," added the eyewitness. "Maybe he'll give her a divorce for Christmas."

Annette and Matt now only spend time together on weekends

WORLD EXCLUSIVE

SICKO sexual predator Bill Cosby assaulted a caretaker for his OWN children.

That's the shocking claim from a close associate of his daughter, Ensa, who poured her heart out to the friend while both sought treatment for substance abuse.

According to the source — who passed an independently administered polygraph examination — Ensa and her older sister, Erinn, confided how their father assaulted their nanny around 1997, the same year their 27-year-old brother, Ennis, was murdered in an apparent robbery gone wrong in Los Angeles.

"Ensa said it was an unwanted sexual advance, and she (the nanny) was hysterical," the source told The National ENQUIRER in a blockbuster world exclusive interview.

The assault left the nanny so traumatized that "she had to leave" the Cosbys' multimillion dollar mansion.

"It upset the whole family," the source said.

"Ensa described how they all really loved her, and when she found out why the woman had left, she was very upset at her father because she'd never known the real reason."

In an apparent bid to cover up her husband's depraved behavior, Cosby's long-suffering wife, Camille, had to "compensate" the victim, added the source.

IF THE mounting toll of abused women wasn't enough for his wife, behind the scenes Cosby was verbally abusive to Camille, said the source.

He frequently criticized her clothing and made rude remarks about her makeup as well.

In a heartbreakin slap in the face, Camille, 71, knew her husband was cheating on her — and shared that heartbreak with her daughter, said the source.

"As Ensa became older, her mother actually sat her down and told her about the affairs her father had," the insider told The ENQUIRER.

"Ensa came to the realization her father

Camille told her daughter she planned to divorce Cosby was not the wonderful family man he was portraying in public — and that her whole upbringing had been a lie."

Camille — who married Cosby in 1964 — also confided to her daughter that she planned to serve the star with divorce papers.

The pair had talked about living together, said the source.

But Ensa, 42, said her mother decided to stay married to the evil former "Cosby Show" star for the sake of her children, according to the source.

During their mutual stint in rehab, Ensa told The ENQUIRER's mole that she also suspected her father had assaulted other women.

"Because of all his affairs and the incident with the nanny, Ensa did wonder (about other assaults)," revealed the source.

She soon came to the stunning realization that her father was a "nasty, belligerent drunk" who bullied his wife and children in a dysfunctional house of horrors, it's alleged.

The twisted double life of America's once-quintessential television dad allegedly sent two of his daughters spiraling into crippling addictions.

"Bill Cosby was seen as 'America's favorite dad,' and Ensa thought she had this lovely family and her dad was this wonderful guy," the source told The ENQUIRER.

"But in reality, he was an abusive alcoholic, and theirs was a very dysfunctional family because of him!"

More than 99 women have stepped forward to accuse Cosby of sexually assaulting them — and in some cases also drugging them!

The disgraced 78-year-old former Jell-O pitchman currently faces possible criminal charges in California and Pennsylvania, along with a slew of civil lawsuits from female victims.

Ensa also said when she was 16, Cosby hit her and twisted her arm when he caught her smoking marijuana, according to the source. NE

Letter of the week

Keep it kontained!

Kim Kardashian's skin-tight clothes are showing too much junk in the trunk ("Kim's Baby Weight Hell," Oct. 12)! What ever happened to maternity clothes? The Kardashians are a disgrace; the money is going to their heads.

Win $50 for the LETTER OF THE WEEK and $25 for every other letter we publish.

The Boss' feud

Bruce Springsteen needs to grow up if he's refusing to speak to fellow Democrat Jon Bon Jovi because Jon allowed Governor Chris Christie to use his songs (Mike Walker Gossip, Oct. 12). I admire Bon Jovi for not letting Springsteen tell him what to do. I'm voting for Christie — how do you like that, Springsteen?

Jen jilts her mom

If I live long enough to see Jen Aniston's mom pass, I know Jen will be there expressing regret that she didn't make up with her (All The Buzz, Sept. 14). Guilt is an awful thing to have to live with when you could have fixed it while she was alive.

REVEALED:

ENQUIRER EXCLUSIVE

HOLLYWOOD DESPERATE

SHOCKING SECRET he's hiding from the world over fears his fans will hate him

DECADES of debauchery have finally caught up with one of Hollywood's top megastars. In a bombshell world exclusive, The National ENQUIRER can reveal that a bad-boy Tinseltown star has been hiding an explosive secret from the world — he is HIV-positive.

Multiple informed sources confirm the world-famous actor, whom The ENQUIRER has chosen not to identify, has been diagnosed with the deadly virus that usually leads to AIDS itself.

The middle-aged star learned at least two years ago that he had contracted HIV — but he has desperately hidden it from the world, terrified his fans will turn against him.

The individual confided this medical bombshell to friends as far back as October 2014.

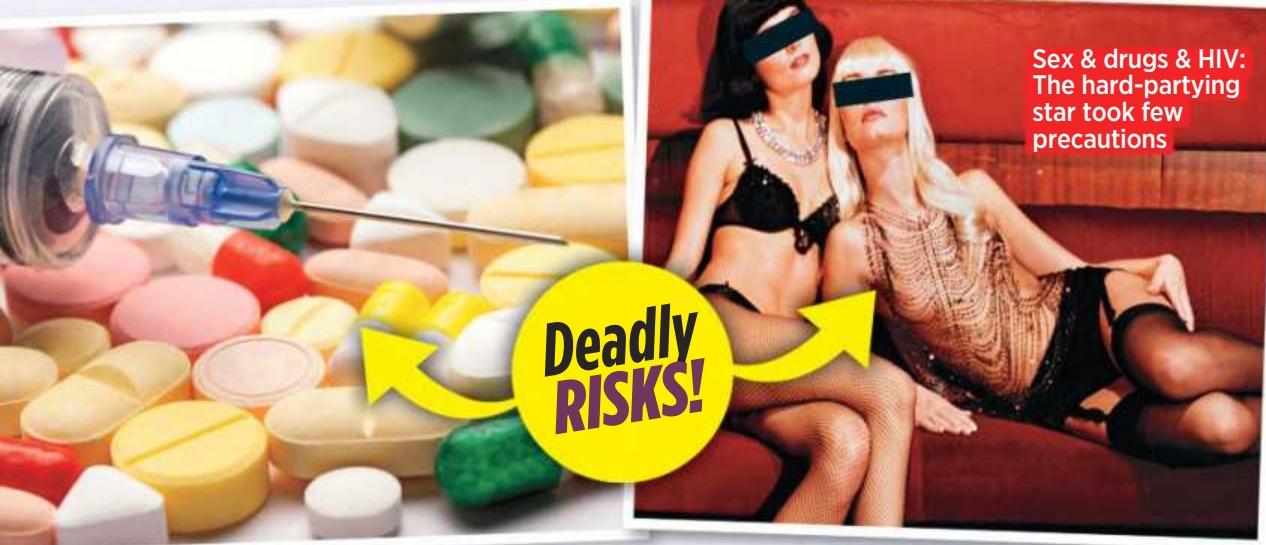

Without treatment, average survival time after infection with HIV is estimated to be nine to 11 years. Thankfully, the Hollywood figure has so far been successfully treated with an "AIDS Cocktail" of high-powered drugs meant to counteract the effects of the disease, including the medications Truvada and Isentress.

"His medical outlook is positive," divulged a source.

However, the star — known for a playboy lifestyle filled with one-night stands and sex-for-hire partners — has been "devastated" over his plight since doctors diagnosed the condition, according to a friend.

*'He led a dangerous lifestyle.
He's learned this the hardest way possible'*

OD SUPERSTAR'S BATTLE WITH AIDS!

The ENQUIRER has learned multiple friends want the star to publicly admit the problem and face reality with courage and determination.

IT IS NOT known exactly how the actor contracted the virus, but the star has previously admitted to engaging in tattooing, injecting drugs and having sex with prostitutes — all activities that increase the risk of contracting the virus.

The star thought he was “indestructible” and took few precautions to protect himself against AIDS — even though he was indulging in high-risk sex practices, sources said.

“He led a dangerous lifestyle,” said one pal. “He’s learned this the hardest possible way.”

Struggling with the weight of the shocking news, the entertainer was hurled into a deep despair last year, racked by stress and pain associated with the deadly condition, The ENQUIRER has learned.

In lonely desperation, he went into seclusion at his home — rarely going out in public and seeing only family and friends inside the sanctuary of his mansion.

He would also party night and day in a bid “to numb” the pain.

“His worst fear is that he will be remembered not as a great actor but as someone who contracted the disease,” explained another source.

“He has been tortured by the thought that his acting genius will be forgotten.

“He was teary-eyed as he told friends that he had it, but he felt that a public admission would destroy him and his fans.”

THE ENQUIRER first learned about the star’s desperate battle with the disease in 2014.

At the time, reps for the actor flatly denied it.

But in recent months the star’s horrifying plight has become an “open secret” again in top Hollywood ranks, with multiple sources coming forward to tell how he’d confided in them.

The ENQUIRER also obtained a videotape in which one of the actor’s former partners revealed he had exposed her to the deadly virus.

Alarmingly though, some sources said he has continued to be promiscuous.

“It could well be a public health hazard,” said a source.

It was only after corroborating the accounts of multiple sources that The ENQUIRER decided to publish this exposé.

It also follows the brave disclosure from “Who’s the Boss?” alum Danny Pintauro, who revealed he is HIV-positive after mixing sex and crystal meth.

Of the latest HIV victim, a show business source told The ENQUIRER: “Many of this actor’s friends and associates have been saying for weeks that he has HIV.”

Nevertheless, the star and his legal team kept a firm grip of secrecy on his problems, even as rumors of his status swept Tinseltown.

According to one source, the megastar has spent an elaborate fortune to secure the silence of his sexual partners — and others — who later discovered his HIV status.

Some of those women believed he’d played “Russian roulette” with their lives, sources said.

At the same time, the star had vowed to stop sowing wild oats and settle down with his then-romantic interest.

But that relationship did not last — and neither the split nor the health predicament has deterred the tragic star from continuing romantic rendezvous. NE

Doris Day TO THE RESCUE for badly shaken BOB BARKER!

COURAGEOUSLY setting aside her own struggles, bighearted Doris Day swung into action to comfort old friend Bob Barker after a frightening fall sent him to the hospital!

The former "The Price Is Right" host was walking outside his L.A. home when he tripped and hit his head on the sidewalk.

In a stroke of luck, two police officers happened to be passing by and rescued him!

Bob received stitches to his forehead and was released, much to the relief of pal Doris.

Bandaged Bob is doing fine after his fall

Doris reached out to her longtime pal

The 91-year-old Hollywood legends are united in their love for animals and have worked in the fight to save them.

"Doris and Bob have crossed paths and admired each other's work with animals for decades," said an insider.

Doris started the nonprofit group The Doris Day Animal

Foundation in 1978.

Bob has long been involved in animal rights issues — so much that in 2010 the People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA) named their L.A. office after him!

Bob and Doris are so devoted to their shared cause that, sources said, they both plan to leave their massive fortunes — Bob's $70 million and Doris' estimated $34 million — to animal rights groups.

Both stars are also battling their own health woes. In 2002, Bob had prostate surgery and suffered a mild stroke. Doris is crippled by arthritis, kidney infections and failing eyesight.

But nothing could have kept her from reaching out to Bob, who's reportedly doing well after the scary spill.

"She and Bob are in this fight for animal welfare together," said the source. "She'd hate to lose such a strong friend and ally!" NE

TRAGIC TV news star Barbara Walters faces dying alone — with just her limo driver at her side!

But the 86-year-old wants to limp her way out of retirement — and back on to gabfest “The View,” which she founded, in order to save the show before it gets axed!

Insiders told The National ENQUIRER Barbara has been seeking out her pals for advice on whether such a full-time return is a smart idea.

“She created it, and to see the show turn into this hodge-podge of topics — which constantly gets press — upsets her,” a source said. “She doesn’t want to see it canceled and thinks she’s the only one who can save it.”

But a second insider said it will be her deteriorating faculties and physical state that end up deciding the matter.

The former “ABC News” reporter turned 86 on Sept. 25, and has slowly vanished from the New York City gossip columns she once dominated.

“When she does venture out, there are whispers Barbara just doesn’t seem like herself,” one eyewitness revealed, while another said Barbara appeared dazed at a recent event and needed to be propped up.

WHAT’S MORE, The ENQUIRER has learned that, with no man in her life, Barbara has had to resort to leaning on her limo driver when going out in public — literally!

While an associate of Barbara’s told The ENQUIRER there’s absolutely no romance between the star and her driver/bodyguard, she’s constantly been spotted arm-in-arm with the grim-faced man.

“It’s sad,” said one source. “She’s all alone in that ritzy Manhattan apartment, and she really needs help getting around.”

The icon was spotted with the silver-haired squire at a recent Oscar de la Renta show, her arm tucked into his, and then again on the Upper East Side in the same pose.

In both cases, the chauffeur stared straight ahead with a blank gaze and looked as if he would rather be anywhere in the world but there!

“It just goes to show you that you can have all the respect and adoration and money in the world — but having someone to grow old with is a luxury you can’t really put a price on,” our source said.

Divorced three times, Barbara retired from “The View” last year and has appeared almost catatonic during recent guest appearances on the show.

“Everyone feels bad for her,” noted our insider. “After four divorces, there’s no man in her life taking care of her. She’s pretty much alone.”

WHY THE DUKE GAY TAB WANNA

John Wayne was just 'TOO MACHO' for movie star Tab Hunter

JOHN Wayne had many thousands of adoring fans — male and female — but secretly gay heartthrob Tab Hunter wasn't one of them!

"The problem was that John was Mr. Macho, always in charge of any production," the now 84-year-old actor told The National ENQUIRER, recalling filming 1955's "The Sea Chase" with the legendary "Duke."

"That kind of thing just turns me off."

When the two worked together, Tab's sexuality was an open secret on the Warner Bros. lot where he was under contract. But John didn't seem to care.

"He was great to me, and wanted me to sign to his own production company. But I wasn't a fan," Tab said.

While Tab turned down a big payday with the Duke, he's still impressed with another Hollywood cowboy: Gary Cooper!

"Gary was also very masculine," said Tab, "but just a beautiful, lovely human being. I even dated his daughter!"

Of course, Tab's "dates" with women in the 1950s weren't serious. Gary's daughter, Maria, had already been seen out with Tab's longtime boyfriend — "Psycho" star Tony Perkins!

"Tony and I were together for two or three years," Tab dished.

"Warner Bros. never said a word to me about it, either. But the Paramount studio eventually told Tony, literally, 'We don't want you seeing Tab anymore.'"

The secret lovers had gone out too often as a couple, even though aspiring starlets always accompanied them.

Show's FINALLY OVER for Marty

COMEDY great Marty Ingels went to his grave proudly aware his greatest role was being married to beloved "Partridge Family" icon Shirley Jones, The National ENQUIRER can reveal.

"I know when I die, the obituaries will all say 'Shirley Jones' husband' and that's fine," Marty once told The ENQUIRER in an exclusive interview before he died on Oct. 21, succumbing to a massive stroke at age 79. "That's great! I love her with all my heart and that will never stop."

His grieving 81-year-old widow feels the same. "He often drove me crazy," said

Natalie Wood. "I loved her like a little sister," he recalled.

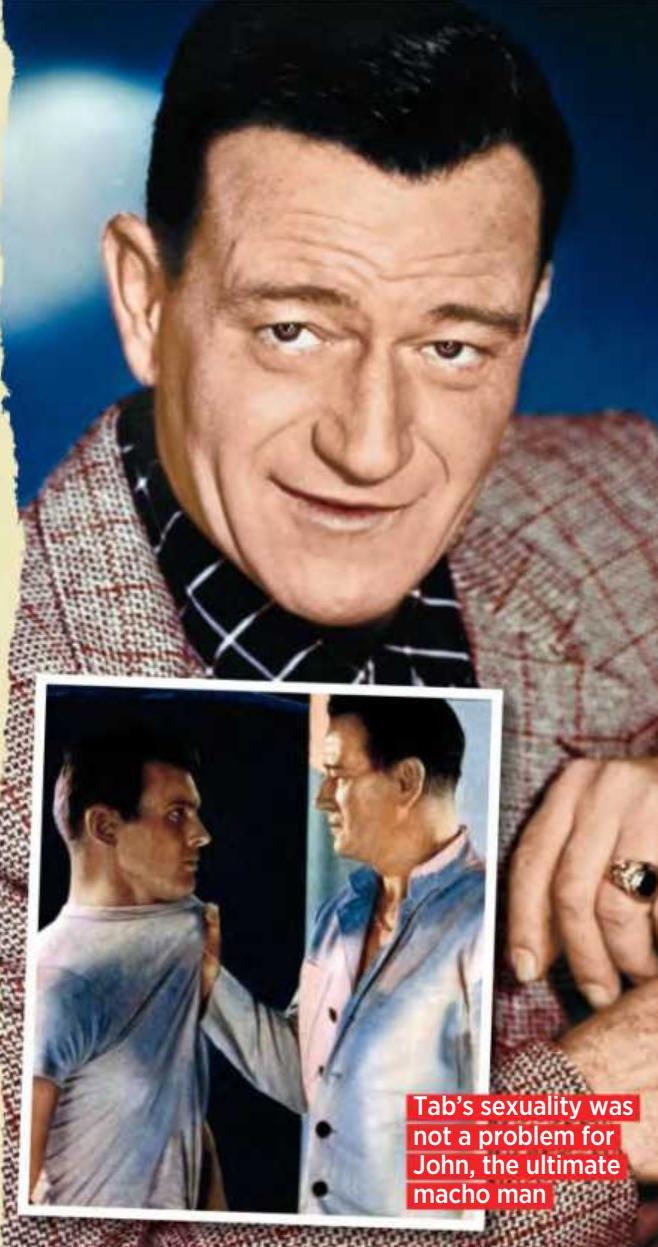

"We'd have our pictures taken going inside a restaurant. Then I'd go home after dinner, and she'd sneak out a back door to go on a date with Dennis Hopper!"

Tab now lives an openly gay lifestyle with longtime boyfriend Allan Glaser, who produced the new documentary "Tab Hunter Confidential."

He also insisted that he's "happy to be forgotten" at his retirement property in Santa Barbara, Calif., where the devout Catholic personally cleans out the stables for his beloved horses.

Said Tab: "I'd rather be there shoveling the real stuff than the Hollywood stuff!"

MR. SHIRLEY JONES'

Shirley, "but there's not a day I won't miss him and love him to my core."

Gruff-voiced Marty — who appeared in "I'm Dickens, He's Fenster" and "Bewitched," among other series — was starstruck when he first met Shirley at a party at fellow actor Michael Landon's house. The couple married three years later in 1977, and Marty couldn't believe his luck: "I was a Jewish kid from Brooklyn and she was Miss America."

After losing pals Joan Rivers and Dick Van Patten, Marty knew "how lucky he was to have Shirley in his life," a friend said. "A lot of Hollywood marriages never last, but theirs was the real thing." NE

SOOTHE YOUR SCRATCHY THROAT

COLD and flu season is prime time for sore throats, but you can get relief. Keep your throat moist by drinking lots of H2O! Warm tea can soothe your throat, too. Try flavored herbal varieties with honey and lemon. Avoid caffeinated drinks, which can dehydrate you. Also good: gargling with salt water. Swish it around in the back of your throat to ease pain.

Take a bite out of GUM DISEASE!

IF YOU'RE having trouble with your teeth and gums, it means things aren't working right elsewhere in your body. But changing your daily habits can put a smile back on your face! Make sure to floss daily. It will loosen up bacteria you can then brush out. Use coconut oil to swish around in your mouth and the fat will nourish your gums. Then rinse. Try using a waterpik, which shoots pressurized water directly at the gums, once a day. Patients with gingivitis will benefit, and gum health will improve dramatically. Finally, make sure to use a good toothbrush with soft and round bristles so that it doesn't damage your gums while brushing!

JOIN THE SNEEZE POLICE!

YOUR allergies can be triggered by a lot more than a walk in the park. There are hidden dangers that set off sneezing and sniffling. Steamy showers will make your bathroom misty and can encourage bacteria-filled mold and dust mites to grow. Leave the door open a crack to allow steam to escape. Wearing shoes indoors will track dirt and pollen inside and transfer it to sofas and other surfaces. Allowing pets on your bed means all the dander they carry in their hair can transfer to sheets and blankets. Finally, be sure to wear gloves and a mask every time you use chemical products to scrub your kitchen or bathroom so they won't irritate your lungs!

DON'T LET YOUR HEART GROW OLDER THAN YOU!

THE Centers for Disease Control and Prevention estimate that three out of four U.S. adults have a "heart age" older than their chronological age — putting them at risk for complications such as heart attack and stroke. Researchers recommend individuals work with their doctors to adopt healthier habits and eliminate risk factors like smoking and high blood pressure. "About three in four heart attacks and strokes are due to these risk factors, so it's important to continue focusing on efforts to improve heart health," said the CDC's Dr. Barbara Bowman.

STOMACH BOOSTING FOOD!

HOW we digest food is important to our health. The best way to establish a healthy digestive system is to eat more good bacteria than bad. Fermented foods kill bad bacteria: Sauerkraut has been used for hundreds of years as a tummy soother. Pickles are also great — but experts recommend the refrigerated types in the produce aisle, which contain good probiotics and extra minerals.

THE WHOLE TRUTH ABOUT MILK

HEALTH fanatics have spent decades telling us to steer clear of whole milk — but recent research shows that might not be the WHOLE story! Scientists tracking diet and health records over 10 years have found that people who consumed more whole-milk fat had a lower incidence of heart disease. Also, cutting saturated fats and replacing them with unsaturated fats — as in fish, nuts and vegetable oils — might reduce heart troubles. Don't miss out on health benefits by judging a food simply by the fat content!

Company Overwhelmed With Orders for Small, Premium Hearing Amplifier That Costs Less Than $20.

It used to cost a fortune to get a personal hearing amplifier (PSAP) with good sound quality. However, one company is changing that, and has turned the industry upside down with a top-of-the line solution, for less than $20.

How can they do this ... The company explains, "Personal Sound Amplifiers have been around for a long time. The technology used today is based on the same technology that was used decades ago. What has changed the most is the design and size. Each year they get smaller and smaller, yet still retain their core ability to amplify sound for anyone."

"Our sound amplification device, called Ear-Pro IQ, offers the same advanced technology, but at a price anyone can afford. We also cut out the middleman and sell directly to the consumer. We buy in large quantities and pass the savings on to the buyer. Simply put, there's no reason to pay a fortune any longer!"

The public response from men and women to Ear-Pro IQ has been overwhelming. "We are sometimes out of stock for a few days. We can't make them as fast as people are buying them."

The company believes they are highly-popular right now for 3 distinct reasons:

1) The sound quality is exceptional. That's why a person buys Ear-Pro IQ in the first place. Because they want to make hearing other people, TVs, radios, etc, easier. And the advanced micro-electronic amplification technology in each Ear-Pro IQ does not disappoint. Buyers quickly see that Ear-Pro IQ truly delivers crystal-clear sound reception.

2) It's nearly invisible. Many people are sensitive about this topic, and don't really want any listening device to be seen. So Ear-Pro IQ was designed to be ultra-small, lightweight and very comfortable. In fact, the clear tube design makes it almost invisible. Ear-Pro IQ users report that it's so incredibly discreet that only they know it's there.

3) The price is absolutely astounding for the quality you get. Ear-Pro IQ supercharges your hearing – increasing the weakest sound to audible levels – at a super low price that anyone can afford.

Those are the 3 reasons why most people upgrade to Ear-Pro IQ. But after they start using Ear-Pro IQ, their life literally changes. With Ear-Pro IQ, all this becomes a reality:

They can hear everything easier... the TV, the stereo, the car radio – without turning it up and disturbing others. They can join in conversations they used to avoid – and they don't miss a word. They can bring it to the theater or the movies and not miss any of the action.

They can hear the doorbell, a knock on the front door, or a car horn while driving.

They can hear all nature's beautiful sounds.

And they can hear what others are saying – even if they're far away.

Each Ear-Pro IQ has adjustable volume control, and fits both the left and right ear. Each one also comes complete with a battery that holds approximately 100 hours of listening time. You also get 6 rubberized earplugs in different sizes, so you can enjoy a customized fit, regardless of ear size.

You can order Ear-Pro IQ directly from the company risk free for only $19.95 each by calling 1-800-550-5700. They are not

'BIG BANG' KALEY'S DIVORCE FROM HELL!

THE ugly split between "The Big Bang Theory" star Kaley Cuoco and husband of five minutes Ryan Sweeting has exploded — to the tune of $45 million, The National ENQUIRER has learned.

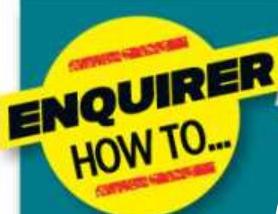

Tennis player and rumored boozehound Ryan, 28, has demanded a hefty chunk of cash from Kaley, 29, now that their disastrous, 21-month marriage has imploded.

"Kaley said, 'Absolutely not!' She already has a rock-solid prenup in place preventing him from getting any more loot from her," a source told The ENQUIRER.

Top matrimonial law expert Jacqueline Newman, who is not involved in the case, told The ENQUIRER "(Kaley's) income is so much greater than his, so it's possible he could receive spousal support."

Last year, Kaley inked a deal with "The Big Bang Theory" giving her $1 million per episode!

"She's swimming in dough," said the source. "This is going to get very nasty!"

MAKE YOUR APPLIANCES LAST LONGER!

You can get a DECADE OR MORE out of your washer, dryer and the rest

APPLIANCES are always among the biggest costs on any homeowner's ledger! Dishwashers, refrigerators, clothes washers and dryers are expensive to repair and even more costly to replace. That's why you want to keep them running in top shape — to make them last!

"The best way to extend the life of your appliances is to keep them clean," said Omar Abulaila, appliance center manager at Sears in Middletown, N.J. "The secret to upkeep is to do it regularly!"

Here are a few easy tips from the experts ...

■ YOUR STOVE

(DESIRED LIFESPAN: 9 YEARS)

Clean a glass-top, electric-coil or gas range after every use. There are spray cleaners specifically made for each, but you can use mild soapy water, too. "Don't wait until the spilled food hardens," said Omar. Food particles can drop into crevices between or under coils, creating a fire risk. Use a pipe cleaner or paper clip to ensure gas ports are not blocked by build-up.

■ YOUR MICROWAVE

(DESIRED LIFESPAN: 10 YEARS)

Eric Kleinert, author of "Troubleshooting and Repairing Major Appliances," said the best way to clean your "nuker" is to heat up a microwave-safe glass of water until the liquid boils. The steam loosens stuck-on gunk inside. Then you can easily remove it all to keep your microwave running smoothly for even longer.

■ YOUR DISHWASHER

(DESIRED LIFESPAN: 10 YEARS)

Wipe down the inside with warm water and change the filter every month. There are also tablets that will clean your dishwasher as it runs through a cycle. Since the bulk of the energy used goes into heating up water, run the water at your sink until it heats up before starting a load. Wipe down the gasket around the door to ensure a good seal.

■ YOUR REFRIGERATOR

(DESIRED LIFESPAN: 11 TO 14 YEARS)

Clean under and behind the refrigerator's base grill to improve air flow to the compression coils. Wash down the door seals with mild, soapy water. "Use your vacuum cleaner attachments to remove dust and debris all the way around your fridge," said Omar. This ensures hot air is released as the fridge keeps everything cool.

■ YOUR DRYER

(DESIRED LIFE SPAN: 20 YEARS)

Cleaning out the lint trap and using the automatic sensor to determine when your clothes are dry will save energy — and also reduce wear and tear on your clothes! Clean out the vent at least once a year to help the dryer run more efficiently.

■ WASHING MACHINE

(DESIRED LIFESPAN: 14 YEARS)

Overstuffing your washer saves time, but the motor and transmission can easily become strained. More small loads will add years to your appliance's life cycle.

■ VACUUM CLEANER

(DESIRED LIFESPAN: 5 YEARS)

Change the bag on a bagged vacuum before it's 100 percent full. Bagless vacuums need their filters cleaned after every use. Also clean rotary brushes regularly, and check and clean the vacuum rods and hoses so air restrictions won't overheat the motor.

■ TV

(DESIRED LIFESPAN: 5 YEARS)

All televisions have a limited life, so turn them off when no one's watching. Also give your set a break by reducing the brightness levels and lowering the contrast levels! NE

Hottest secrets of TV's newest STARS!

BRANDED
A TERRORIST

PRINYANKA Chopra started her Hollywood career with angry mobs calling her a terrorist! She's been a star in her native India since winning the Miss World crown in 2000. But her American debut involved singing for "Thursday Night Football" — where racist NFL fans felt it was un-American to have a foreigner starting the game!

"Just because I'm brown, why am I a terrorist?" Priyanka, now 33, said afterward. "The only way to go forward is to shut (up) the detractors with your work."

And she's proving it as a fledgling FBI agent on the hit ABC series "Quantico."

NATURAL beauty Jaimie Alexander needs eight hours of makeup for her leading role on "Blindspot" on NBC! Jaimie, 31, stars as an amnesiac who's found naked in Times Square while covered in more than 200 tattoos!

"I would wear them all the time if I could," said Jaimie, enjoying TV success after starring as Lady Sif in the "Thor" movies.

Three makeup artists use professional-quality ink on her body, and Jaimie tries to keep their work intact for days at a time.

"There is a fella who has to paint my chest," admitted Jaimie, "and that's always awkward!"

CHANGING FACE OF FAME WAYNE NEWTON

"I'VE always had great faith in the man upstairs," said Wayne Newton — but the biggest star in Las Vegas hasn't aged the way God intended!

In fact, Wayne's face today looks a little too much like the baby-faced crooner who had a hit with "Danke Schoen" in 1963.

He's still smiling, though, as the 73-year-old performer remains the face of Sin City!

ITALIAN celebrity chef Giada De Laurentiis is cooking up a fabulous single life in her new $6 million estate!

The busy beauty is freshly divorced from ex-husband Todd Thompson, but isn't downsizing with her new 5,000-square-foot L.A. home in the Pacific Palisades neighborhood.

Fans of "Giada at Home" shouldn't expect to get a glimpse of her five new bedrooms, though. She doesn't film the show in her actual home.

"It's no surprise that Giada's new home has a spacious kitchen with top-of-the-line appliances," said Redfin real estate agent Alec Traub.

"Maybe the new house will inspire some new — and delicious — dishes!"

WIGOUT!

TRANSGENDER beauty Caitlyn Jenner had a hairstyle malfunction that stole the spotlight from Kim Kardashian on her stepdaughter's 35th birthday!

The former Olympian, 66, made an impression with a plunging neckline, but things went bad when she lowered her head to duck photographers.

"Caitlyn's wig parted at her hairline and gave us a scary view of a reality-show scalping!" said a frightened eyewitness.

Jermaine Jackson named his son Jermajesty

Duncan Jones, née Zowie, David Bowie's kid

Bronx Mowgli; parents Ashlee Simpson and Pete Wentz

Christie Brinkley has a daughter named Sailor

The Hollyweird name game

ZOEEY Deschanel is the proud mom of 3-month-old Elsie Otter — which is a pretty ordinary name by star standards!

Just ask celeb offspring like Nicolas Cage's 10-year-old son, Kal-El. He shares Superman's name back on the planet Krypton!

Other wacky names include Rocket Zot, the son of "Avatar" star Sam Worthington and supermodel Lara Bingle, and actor Jason Lee's boy, Pilot Inspektor. Bronx Mowgli Wentz can "thank" Ashlee Simpson and rocker Pete Wentz for his name.

Film director Duncan Jones was originally dubbed Zowie by dad David Bowie, while Jermaine Jackson called his son Jermajesty. That makes Christie Brinkley's daughter's name, Sailor, sound normal!

Icy Gwyneth

SINGLE gal Gwyneth Paltrow wants to freeze herself for a future husband!

The Oscar-winning actress, 43, is looking into cryogenics — where a body (or just a head) is frozen after death for years until a cure is found to revive their bodies!

An insider said: "It's no secret Gwyneth is obsessive about maintaining her looks and living a long life. She's become increasingly fascinated by cryogenics as an eternal option for when she passes on!"

She isn't the only celeb looking into the process. All The Buzz revealed earlier this year that Kanye West and Kim Kardashian have plans to become his 'n hers popsicles.

"It's not as crazy as it sounds," insisted the source. "But Gwyneth's friends are still shaking their heads over the idea of her frozen head!"

Classic ENQUIRER

KILLER husband Scott Peterson was on trial for his life during this week in 2003 — and his goose was cooked after The National ENQUIRER revealed where he'd hidden the boat he used to dispose of the corpse of his pregnant wife, Laci! Readers also learned cops found a pair of pliers containing a lock of Laci's hair. The philandering fiend was quickly convicted in a California court.

CRYPTOGRAM QUOTES

FAMOUS QUOTES FROM YOUR FAVORITE PEOPLE

Cryptograms are coded messages. To solve the Cryptogram, each coded letter must be replaced by the answer letter in the box overhead. When you solve the code for a letter, write the answer letter in the box everywhere the coded letter appears. Look for common words and letter patterns to break the code. Words like AND, I, THE and A are found frequently. Common word endings are ING, S and E.

ASK THE VET WITH DR. JEFF LACROIX

Owning a pet can be a rewarding but often puzzling experience. ENQUIRER columnist, top veterinarian Dr. Jeff LaCroix, answers the toughest questions about your four-legged friends.

BEHIND KITTY'S BEHAVIOR

Why does our cat try to bite us if we pet her near her tail? This is normal behavior. Most cats don't like being stroked at the base of the tail. It seems to result in overstimulation. In general, cats prefer to be petted near their faces, especially the cheek area. This may have something to do with where their scent glands are located.

DOG'S OTHER BEST FRIEND

Do dogs need other dogs for companionship? What's the best dog for our female dog? Probably, yes. The pack instinct has not been totally bred out of our pet canines. Two dogs are likely to interact, groom and sleep together. Regarding which sex to add, there should be no conflict here. Aggression between two spayed females is not uncommon. For this reason, choose a male of a similar size and have him neutered before he reaches puberty.

HOW TO PLAY

You must fill in every empty square in the Sudoku grid. There's no right way of going about this, but there is only ever one solution. The big grid is split into nine mini-grids. There are nine rows running left to right and nine columns running down. In every row, you must have each of the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. These can be in any order. The same applies to columns and mini-grids: place every number 1 through 9 in each column and in each mini-grid.
